In Case You Forgot
Nazi Bullets Play Havoc With G. I. Smokes in Italy

Boiled the unfortunate G. I. in the final encounter of Guadalcanal. His death and the death of a French officer who was killed at the same time, the last straw that was too much for the G. I. who had been wounded in the arm of his M-1 and who was left to die in the street, the street was closed to traffic. The G. I. was taken to the hospital, but he was too late. He died in the hospital, and the rest of his family were taken home by the government. The G. I. was not a hero, he was a victim of war. The government gave him a hero's burial, but he was not a hero. He was a victim of war. The government gave him a hero's burial, but he was not a hero. He was a victim of war.

CAROLE KINGS

Dame Fashion has done so much for women, it's been said. It's also been said that she's been a rebel. Carole Kings is the one who has designed them with a taste of the everyday, a look that's easy to live with. Waders are high, skirts are short, but never too short. Skirts aresmart, tailored to fit the body, yet comfortable to wear. For evening wear, there are cocktail dresses in rich, deep colors. For day wear, there are practical, comfortable styles that can be worn to work or play.

Trench Foot Can Be Avoided—Cifalsa

Trench foot is like many other diseases of the foot, is preventable, and with the proper precautions, can be avoided completely. It is caused by a combination of factors, including cold, damp, and poor circulation. To avoid trench foot:

1. Keep the feet dry and warm. Avoid standing in water or mud.
2. Use dry woolen socks. Always carry an extra pair of socks, and change them at least every day or more often.
3. Avoid damp, cold, or wet conditions, especially if they last for more than a few hours.
4. Keep the feet clean and dry. Avoid sitting or standing on wet ground or in water.
5. Wear shoes that fit properly and provide good support and insulation.
6. Avoid extending the legs for long periods of time, as this can reduce blood flow to the feet.
7. Keep the body warm and dry. Wear warm clothing and use a tent or shelter to stay dry.
8. Eat a balanced diet rich in vitamins and minerals, especially vitamin B12, which is essential for healthy nerve function.
10. Rest the legs and feet regularly, especially when they are tired or injured.

By following these precautions, you can prevent trench foot and enjoy your military service.
Own Uniform Consoles WAC for Brother's Loss

While her family was on furlough, her brother, Pvt. Walter Ives, 19, was killed. Mrs. Esther Ives of the Baptist Church was told that her son was dead in the Pacific. Mrs. Ives had named her son Walter for her husband, Pvt. Walter Ives, who was killed in a recent battle. His body was not identified, but his family was told that he was killed in a recent battle. HEADLINERS IN ‘AG UAPOPPIN’ TONIGHT

By SGT. CHUCK VOORHEIS

Three up and three down is not a very enviable situation in which to hit the mound for the Wolves. But tonight, the Hurler and Specialist Wolves meet for the championship of The Infantry School Baseball League.

And unless the Academic Pros score six runs in the top of the first inning, the Hurler will have another chance for another shutout.

The Wolves have scored 18 runs in the last four games, with the only shutout coming against the Hurlers.

If the Hurlers can close out the season with a win, they will win the league championship.
